Siamese Judging

I have become very much discouraged over the judging of Siamese Cats in shows this year. I think we deserve a better system of judging. In the last three shows I attended, the Best Cat and those receiving Winners in the Specialty Show didn't come in, in the All-Breed Show.

People say, "You must know your judges." Why should I know my judges? Isn't there a standard to judge by?

I believe these judges are honest, but they are given too much leeway. They judge according to their likes and dislikes. True, they figure up their points on paper but what standard do they use? Each judge must have her own.

If a judge doesn't like a dark coat regardless of the condition of that coat, the cat is "out". It may be almost perfect in all other ways. A light coated cat wins even though it is much inferior to the dark one.

even mentioned by the Specialty judge the day before.

I have drawn up a chart that I wish would be considered. Each judge would be supplied with a blackboard similar to this chart with the cats' numbers across the top. The standard in points would be written down the length of the board. Body shape comes first. Pick out the best body shape and judge the remainders accordingly; head shape next, and so on down the board. The cat with the most points is the winner. Two judges probably would not pick the same cat as the best, but there certainly would not be a discrepancy in the judging.

The judges would have to know what a perfect Siamese Cat should look like. Isn't this a fair method to ask of them?

Cat Word List

In the December CATS I see a note based on the World Book Encyclo-

STANDARD	CAT No. 1	CAT No. 2	CAT No. 3	CAT No. 4	CAT No. 5	CAT No. 6	Remarks
Body Shape	20	18	16	15	17	18
Head Shape	15	14	14	13	12	11
Eye Shape	10	9	9	8	7	7
Eye Color	10	9	9	8	7	8
Body Color	15	14	13	12	13	14
Points Color	15	13	14	12	12	14

Condition	5	5	5	4	3	4
TOTAL	100	91	88	80	81	84
RESULTS	1st	2nd	x	x	4th	3rd

The point scale judges are supposed to follow indicates that color counts 15 points. There is bound to be a difference in judging as to how much of the 15 points is taken off for a dark coat. But they can't throw the cat out! It may have a better head shape which counts 15 points. One cat may have beautiful eye color (10 points), but the second one may balance that with better eye shape (10 points).

At one show I attended, the judge preferred light bodies and very blue eyes. The cat, given Winners in a certain large class had a light body and clear blue eyes but its body was short and high. It had a short round head and light hair in its mask. It wasn't pedia with the spelling "Pascht", a variant bringing to 16 what I checked a few days ago on making a decision on which word to use in a bit of verse. It is an interesting list:

Agrees With Miss Landon

I note with a great deal of interest the letter by Miss Leah Landon (CATS, Jan. '49). I agree fully with Miss Landon. I had not heard reports that the F.F.A. boys were selling cats but I had heard of other organizations etc., doing it. I found it rather difficult to understand how such a fine association such as the Future Farmers could do such a thing!

Certainly we should put a stop to this sort of a practice—cats are household pets—children love them . . . be a cat a special breed or "just a cat" such as my own household cat, Buzzy, they should not be mistreated nor sold . . .

WHITE HOUSE CAT

Recently a news dispatch from an Eastern city reported that an exhibitor of fine cats was to present one of them to the President of the United States. The item created considerable interest in the East. A few days later the donor of the cat appeared at a cat show and many people interested in cats and The President, attended the event only to learn that the gift cat was a publicity gag designed to attract spectators to the show.

Needless to say many were disappointed over the "frameup", and it is believed that the story has created a great amount of harm for the future. City editors, like elephants, do not forget. Those City Editors who fell for the yarn will be rather adamant next year when it is time to use a little space about announcing a cat show even if an unusual and true news item about a cat finds its way to the Desk.

If The President of the United States had been presented with a Cat, and not in the mind of an over-zealous publicity purveyor, it would have been THE CAT STORY OF THE YEAR. The repercussions in favor of The Cat would have reached a new high, you can be sure. So, once again, interest in The Cat in the East has, perhaps, dropped back a notch or two in the opinion of the general public. Those who understand the results of such stories can only shrug their shoulders and say, "Well, it was just one of those things!"

Naturally we were contacted by newsmen about the planned gift of a cat to the President. The most important question asked us by these reporters was, "Has there ever been a cat in the White House before?"

Research shows that President Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover were cat lovers. It is correctly reported that Mr. Coolidge had no less than five cats at the White House and that he was always interested in every new cat book, instructing the secretary to make certain that he be provided with a copy just as quickly as it appeared at the booksellers.

Perhaps the greatest White House cat of them all was Slippers, the cherished pet of President Theodore Roosevelt. There may have been other Well known cats prior to Slippers who had the run of the White House, but where they came from and who they were have long since been forgotten.

Slippers was an unusual cat in that he was a short hair domestic blue and possessed six toes on each of his paws. Slippers, like any normal household pet had the habit of absenting himself from the White House for days and weeks at a time. But however long he remained away, he never failed to turn up just prior to a big diplomatic dinner. How he knew of these big functions, no one could understand. But that Slippers did know, is certain. When reporters, gathered at the White House for news, and saw Slippers on the premises, they turned their attentions to the Affairs of State.

On one historic occasion, Slippers proved himself to be the owner of The President. This particular evening, after the stately dinner had been completed, the President, with the wife of a distinguished Ambassador on his arm, led the procession down the wide corridor from the Oining Room to the East Room at the other end of the building. There followed the Ambassador's Plenipotentiaries and Ministers according to their rank in the official world, all chatting happily with their ladies. All of a sudden this magnificent procession came to a halt.

There on the rug, in the middle of the corridor lay Slippers, stretched full length, and blinking lazily at the fine show which no doubt he thought had been arranged especially to do him honor.

President Roosevelt saw the huge cat just in time to avert treading on him, and stopped. His first impulse was to pick Slippers up, but a little shiver of the lady on his arm, warned him that she did not like cats. For a moment the President was perplexed. Slippers, receiving the attention bestowed on him, rolled luxuriously on the rug, purring his delight. No thought of moving out of the path was in his mind.

With an amused bow as the story goes, The President, as if in apology to the Ambassador, escorted her around Slippers and continued on his way towards the East Room. Whereupon the representatives of the various Nations from the most important to the smallest of the long list, followed suit, paying their respects to Slippers quite as effectually as The President.

But the night was not yet completed for Slippers. Upon seating the Ambassador and before even the last of the guests entered the East Room, The President excused himself and returned to Slippers. He picked up the cat and carried him to Mrs. Roosevelt that she might pet and admire him. Unbeknown to Slippers, it is believed, The President made this cat safe from the vengeance of any White House servant. For, as the story goes, Slippers had acquired official status, so to speak, and not only in the White House, but in the Presidential family as well.

RED SAFETY COLLAR PROTECTS CATS FROM HUNTERS

I am enclosing a snapshot of my Blue Point, Lazuli, waiting for her copy of CATS Magazine to be delivered.

We live in Maine where nothing that moves is safe during the hunting season. Therefore, my three cats wear collars of scarlet ball fringe so that the Blue Point will not be shot for a rabbit (which might be possible since she has a short tail), and the Seal Points for foxes.

BLACK PERSIAN OF SWITZERLAND IS EUROPE'S BEST FOR 1948INT. CH. PIERROT DU BOSQUET

International Champion Pierrot du Bosquet, a Black male longhair, owned by his breeder, Madame M. A. Gay of Liebefeld, Berne, Switzerland, is the top ranking show cat of Continental Europe for 1948.

Pierrot is a familiar feline feature in the newspapers and magazines of Switzerland, the Netherlands, Denmark, Italy, Norway and France because of the remarkable success he has achieved wherever exhibited.

Although exhibitions are few and far between on Continental Europe, nevertheless Pierrot has captured his share, and from all indication, at this writing, there isn't any stopping.

The Swiss Black reached the top rung of success by carrying off Best in Show at the International Cats Olympiade held in Copenhagen, Denmark, November 20-22. The Olympiade attracted exhibitors from Norway, Sweden, Holland, Switzerland and Italy as well as Denmark.

Pierrot who was born July 29, 1941, gained the attention of cat enthusiasts in 1947 at the first Olympiade where he annexed an international championship title for the first time. The event was held in November. To prove that he is really tops, he competed the following month at The Hague and earned additional honors.

Last July at San Pellegrino, Pierrot was adjudged Best in Show, the first to be held in Italy since before the war. He followed up this victory by his appearance recently in Copenhagen.

Pierrot has to date, annexed seven champion and beauty certificates and now boasts two more than his illustrious mother, International Champion Matuta des Rouches, a Black dwarf female. Matuta an outstanding European show cat in her own right as well as a producer of unusually fine kits, has in her pedigree some outstanding English ancestors including Llantarnam Boy Bubbles, Ch. Hillingdon Jackdaw, Hillingdon Black Pansy, Daphne of Downside and Dinah of Downside.

Matuta also produced Peggy du Bosquet, a black female, who has annexed six champion certificates to date, with wins at Berne in 1945; Zurich in 1946 and 1948; Copenhagen in 1947; The Hague in 1947; and San Pellegrino last summer. She was born March 10, 1941 and was sired by International Champion Pit Von Oberrhein, whose pedigree shows Ch. Hillingdon Black Jester, Champion Mischief of Bredon, and other outstanding English stock.

The sire of Pierrot is Nicolas du Bosquet, a son of Kilt de Lydie and grandson of the International Champion, Autocrat of the Court.

HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN CAT FANCY

PART 1—SIAMESE SECTION (1890 TO 1910)

BY CHARLES A. KENNY

(Copyright 1949, by Charles A. Kenny. Must not be reprinted or quoted without written permission.)

No record has been found in early cat books or periodicals of the name of the owner of the first Siamese Cat in America, nor the name of the Cat, nor the date of the year in which the breed arrived on these shores. Several writers made mention of specific cats and their owners whom they themselves believe were the original Siamese and Siamese Cat owners in America. However, from this writer's own research through many manuscripts, books, and very earliest cat magazines published even before the turn of the century, there is not a single passage that definitely stamps any one person in America as the first Siamese Cat owner, or any one Siamese Cat as being the first to arrive here.

There have been many writers who have given the name of the individual whom they believed to be the first Siamese Cat owner, however their statements have proven to be incorrect. To prove this point, an article appeared in the July 1909 issue of The Cat Review, titled "The Siamese Cat", and written by Harold Basset. In this feature, Mr. Basset is quite emphatic in his statement that Mme. Blanche Arral of Grantwood, N. J. was the first person to bring a Siamese Cat to America. Mme. Arral herself, writing in a 1911 issue of The Cat Journal states that the first Siamese she ever saw was in Siam while on concert tour there in 1902. Volume I of the Beresford Cat Club Stud Book and Register, published in 1900 contains the listings of two American-owned Siamese Cats.

The most recent statement published concerning the first Siamese Cat owner in America, appears in the April 20, 1946 issue of Collier's. This is in the article, "The Warrior Cats," by Nina Wilcox Putman, who discusses the attributes of her Siamese Cats. She reveals that Commander Hovey-King, an American naval officer, imported a pair of the Cats to America on a battleship.

We do not dispute the statement made by Mrs. Putman in her excellent article, however she fails to furnish the date in the writing. Aside from this the name of the Naval Commander does not appear in any cat books or periodicals that this writer has carefully scanned in search of the answer to this question.

We cannot go beyond the first stud books of the Beresford Club to offer enlightenment on the subject, but after reading countless passages about the Siamese Cat we are of the opinion that the first one arrived in America about 1890—quite possibly at the same time England received its first Siamese, or even before.

Since most of the Siamese Cat listings in the complete set of four volumes of the Beresford register are incomplete, it could be that one of these registered animals is the first Siamese to be brought to America, and that Commander Hovey-King was the original owner of one or both of them.

The futility of determining who was the first American owner of the first Siamese Cat here is really not important after all, and because of the incomplete records that are available, to work up an argument over the question, is simply a waste of time and effort. If the reader accepts the statement by Mrs. Putman, there is no counteracting statement to prove it incorrect.

The findings in the first volumes of the Beresford books are no means a proof that Nina Wilcox Putman is wrong. The Beresford records only show that Siamese Cats were owned in America prior to July 1900, date of issue of Volume I, which contained the listings of those two Siamese Cats.

Six of the nine Beresford book listings show the Cat to be imported; two definitely born in the United States; and one where the country of the breeder is not indicated. Either of the two listed as born in the United States could be the first American-bred Siamese.

In Volume I, the pair registered are Lockhaven Siam, a male; and Lockhaven Sally Ward, a female. These Cats were owned at the time of registry by Mrs. Clinton Locke of Chicago. Siam was originally purchased by Mrs. Robert Locke in France and was a "direct importation from Siam". Lockhaven Sally Ward was purchased from a Mrs. Spencer of Sandusky, Ohio. It is not indicated if this Cat was imported by Mrs. Spencer, nor if Mrs. Spencer was the breeder. The dates and pedigree of these cats are listed as "unknown."

Can we give Mrs. Spencer the credit of having the first Siamese Cat in America? Did she originally receive this Cat from Commander Hovey-King? Is Sally Ward an American-bred Siamese Cat, an offspring from the original pair that arrived on the battleship?

Two Siamese are recorded in Volume II of the Beresford book showing listings up to and including July 1901. The Cats, both imports, were born in 1897 and were originally owned by Mrs. Locke, who purchased them direct from Lady Marcus Beresford of England. Prior to registry they were sold to Mrs. W. S. Hofstra of Hempstead, N. Y., Names of these Siamese were Netherlands Tilu, a male; and Netherlands Ma, a female. They are listed as "Chocolate Siamese."

Volume III reveals what appears to be the first American-bred Siamese, a neuter named Chone, bred by Mrs. A. H. Hoag of San Francisco. The mother of Chone was Rowdy, imported by Postmaster General Hastings. Rowdy's registration appears in this volume and shows that her birthdate was July 1, 1894. Chone's sire was Siam, presumably the Locke cat, whose registry appears in the first volume of Beresford.

Could Postmaster General Hastings be credited with being the first Siamese owner in America? Could Hastings have received Rowdy from Commander Hovey-King? Was Siam not the original Locke cat but instead, the male of the pair introduced by the American Naval Commander?

Volume III also shows the listings of two other Siamese. First of these are Angora Sikh, born August 14, 1899, owned by Mrs. Hoag, and bred by Mrs. Christian Reiss. There is no indication that the Cat was imported since Mrs. Reiss' address is not indicated. This Cat was sired by Sikh ex Chimeta by Chimmie Fadden ex The Dutchess. Angora Sikh could be American-bred.

Were Sikh, Chimeta, Chimmie Fadden and The Dutchess imports? Had two of these Cats accompanied Commander Hovey-King to America on a battleship?

Another Siamese in the Volume III of the Beresford stud book is Madison Calif, a male, bred by Mrs. Hoag from Rowdy. Dates are lacking as is the name of the Sire. Could this Cat be the first American-bred in place of Chone?

A single entry appears in Volume IV, this being Angora Klobe, a female bred in Japan and imported by Mrs. Hoag. Date of birth is given as July 9, 1902 with no additional information as to pedigree except the name of the breeder, a Mr. Tilden.

Thus we come to the conclusion that to positively identify the person owning the first Siamese Cat in America and the name of that first Siamese, is well nigh impossible, unless of course some one steps forward with the charts to shoot the foregoing full of holes.

And now for additional data of this early period as we move up the years in the Twentieth Century, pegging some of these early Siamese previously mentioned. Several did compete in exhibitions and proved to be fine show winners. Whether they were unusual fine cats and ones that could compete with the standards set today are problematical. Pictures of several of them either do not do the cat justice or else they really were poor specimens.

Nevertheless they were Siamese and won their share of spoils in the exhibitions either because they were imported Siamese Cats or because they were a much better cat than any of the domestic shorthairs which competed in the same classes in those early events.

bench, after they were acquired by Miss Lucy C. Johnstone, the Beresford Stud Register recorder. Calif was the first Siamese in America to earn a championship and Sally Ward followed soon after. Both died in October 1907, giving rise to the belief that they may have been cut down by gastro-enteritis.

Lockhaven Siam passed from original ownership by Mrs. Clinton Locke to Mrs. W. E. Colburn of Chicago and was the first Siamese to win a Best Cat award. This remarkable feat was accomplished in Detroit at the Michigan Cat Club event held on January 7-8-9, 1907. Judge of the event was Mrs. Oliver L. Dosch of Elizabeth, N. J.

The following year, February 4-5-6, 1908, the second Siamese to win Best Cat in an All Breed show was Lockhaven Elsa, a female, at the Beresford Cat Club exhibition staged in Chicago. Mr. Louis Wain of London, the eminent English illustrator and authority, was the judge. Lockhaven Elsa was

Pittsburgh Club Operates Again

Plans for a cat club in Pittsburgh were completed on January 15 when a meeting was held in the editorial offices of CATS with more than a dozen enthusiasts on hand. The organization was launched by Mrs. Phyllis Levy, 5721 Elgin Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Those desiring to become members of the Pittsburgh club are urged to write Mrs. Levy or telephone her at Express 1083.

The formation of the Pittsburgh club recalls to many, the former Pittsburgh Cat Club that staged outstanding exhibitions prior to the first World War, several of the shows attracting as many as 275 exhibits.

Solid Red and Tortie Group Organizes

A specialty club to be known as The Solid Red and Tortoiseshell Society has been organized on January 8 in Columbus, Ohio for the purpose of improving solid Reds and Tortoiseshells.

The organization may stage a specialty show and will annually offer its cup list. Charter membership will remain open until February 15.

President is Mrs. Ilda Ampacker, with Mrs. Helen Watts, treasurer and Mrs. J. J. Small, 1491 Maplegrove Rd., Cleveland, Ohio, secretary. Affiliation will be announced later, together with other information.

GCCF Secretary Dies After Lung Surgery

F. H. Thompson, secretary of the Governing Council of the Cat Fancy (GCCF), England, died suddenly on November 6, following an operation for the removal of an abscess from the lung. He is survived by his widow.

Mr. W. A. Hazeldine, 1 Roundway Way, Banstead, Surrey, England, has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

American-bred and was purchased by her owner, Mrs. Clinton Locke from the breeder, Mrs. Louis Swift of Lake Forest, Ill.

The Best Cat awards given two years in succession really placed the Siamese Cat in a new light as far as breeder-exhibitor interest was concerned. If the first selection at Detroit was a "fluke", as many exhibitors termed it, then the decision the following year by Wain discounted this assertion, because the judge was internationally known as one of the outstanding cat authorities in the world at that time.

In the East, the pioneer of Siamese was Mrs. W. S. Hofstra, later to become president of the Cat Fanciers Association. As previously pointed out, the Hempstead, N. Y. exhibitor purchased her Chocolate Siamese from Mrs. Locke, these being Tilu and Ma. Both ruled the East in show competition and enjoyed long reigns, joined later by a number called Siam H, who compiled an excellent show record but whose pedigree so far has failed to turn-up in research.

Tilu and Ma are the ancestors of many of the early American-bred Siamese in the East and those who can trace back the ancestry in their Siamese may finally arrive at this original pair of imports.

Many of the first Siamese, American-bred are from the famed Angora Cattery of Mrs. A. H. Hoag of San Francisco. In 1903 Mrs. Hoag sold Chemita, a queen to a Mrs. Mandeville of Boston to launch the interest in New England.

Another early exhibitor of Siamese was Miss Jane Cathcart of Oradel, N. J., who imported many of her cats from England and France including her Champion Siam de Paris.

Mrs. H. G. Dykhouse of Grand Rapids, Mich., likewise aided in the development of the breed and shipped Siamese to every section of the country. Two of her outstanding specimens were Romeo Siam, a male, and Ch. Romeo Ananda, a female.

Naturally, the Best Cat awards at Detroit and Chicago did much to stimulate interest in the Siamese Cats of that day. However, American breeder-exhibitors had their trouble with the breed. The animals were delicate and produced only one or two kits in a litter, unlike the healthy specimens that appear today. Consequently, the popularity of Siamese was handicapped by lack of stock and many losses through gastro-enteritis. Efforts were made by the editors of cat journals of the day to obtain additional information in the breeding, raising and care of Siamese from England, where considerable success had been achieved from the time that Siamese were first introduced there.

The quest for the secret of strong and healthy Siamese plus the success of the few that had been shown resulting in Best Cat awards, successful culminated with the founding of the Siamese Cat Society of America in April 1909.

CORRECTION

Because of an oversight the 1948 All-American Manx Tortoiseshell female, Champion Chanta, was not included in the listing as published in the August 1948 issue of CATS. At the time of the distribution of the awards at the Long Beach, Calif., exhibition in November, Miss Colleen Clancy of Glendale, Calif., breeder-owner, failed to receive the award. The award has been sent to Miss Clancy, CATS regrets this oversight.

Best Novice, Milwaukee Cat Club (January '49 CATS), owner should be listed as Mrs. Frances Kosierowski and not Mrs. Myrtle K. Shipe who acted in capacity of agent.

AMERICA'S GREAT CATS

Mo. 1

DBL CH. DJERKITS CHINKALING OF NEWTON (IMP.) 1926-1942

MRS. VIRGINIA COBB
Newton, Mass

Do you know of a cat who commanded Page One copy and pictures when it had a birthday and when it died had the news splashed across the first page of the newspapers? If you do, then you read the Boston newspapers.

Double Champion DjerKits Chinkaling of Newton (Imported) spent his declining years in Newton, a suburb of Boston. He was a great cat and by reason of the fact that he commanded the respect of the entire American Cat Fancy, the Bostonians, and above all, the daily press, Chinkaling, the Seal Point Siamese male cat owned by Mrs. Virginia Cobb of Newton, Massachusetts is selected as The First Cat in our Series of Great Cats of America.

We have before us the Page One clippings of The Boston Traveler, dated Thursday, August 7, 1941 in which a two-column heading and set of pictures mark the 15th birthday of Chinky. It is a great story by-lined by Jack Broudy, who relates in detail about this great Siamese.

We have before us Page One clippings of The Boston Traveler, dated Monday, August 10, 1942 with an equally important story about Chinky and the news of his 16th birthday, this time written by an anonymous reporter. Mr. Broudy had gone to war, and could not be on hand for the big birthday party.

We have before us Page One clippings of The Boston Traveler, dated Friday, September 25, 1942, with pictures as usual and by-lined by Virginia Bohlin. This story is Chinky's obit. "Champion Newton Show Cat Is Dead; Leaves Trophies to Commando Drive" is the three column heading. One picture is that of Chinkaling; the other that of eight youngsters assembling the trophies this great cat had won in the show ring, to be used for a war-scrap drive. The picture is the final adieu to a great cat, an outstanding show record and a lovable pet.

Double Champion DjerKits Chinkaling of Newton, Imported, was born August 4, 1926 in London, England and was bred by Miss Glynn, out of Lotus of Colston and Bridgford Kim. She came to America when one year old with Mrs. William Hard. Due to Mrs. Hard's many lecture engagements and absences from her home, Chinky became the property of the late Miss Emma Payne of Falls Church, Virginia and Rosedere Cattery fame. From the rolling hills of Virginia, Chinky passed on to Miss Elsie Hydon of Bogota, New Jersey where she had her first litter, a half dozen boys.

Since Miss Hydon also had a number of dogs, and because of Chinky's

TURNTABLE CAT

IT WAS CHARLIE TRUSSELL'S BIG SHOW UNTIL MATILDA WALKED IN ON THE ACT

It was Spring.

Charlie Trussell, the new radio announcer at Station WTSB, Lumberton, North Carolina, was in great spirits as he walked down the street in the direction of the studio.

The street was nearly deserted because it was the supper hour in this pretty little Carolina town. Charlie had arrived only a week before, and he had fallen in love with the place. Everything was breaking well for him since he was mustered out of the service. Now he had his Big Chance with radio. And he was walking in the direction of the Studio to begin the Big Chance this particular night. For a week he had been preparing for the event, working hard and organizing his Show. He took time out only to feed Matilda, the Studio Cat each evening, and to give her a playful tickle on the scruff of her neck.

But the Big Chance in Charlie's life at the moment was his show, "The Night Court of Fun" which would make its debut on the air this night at 10 o'clock with Charlie cast as "The Ol' Jedge".

It was one of those programs where Charlie was to play recordings, joke about the weather, play some more records, give his quips about the news of the day; mention the names of a few people around the area; and of course sell furniture, day old chicks, mens shoes, automobiles, baking soda and all those things you sell when you have a program like Charlie's.

Charlie arrived at the Studio and settled down to put the finishing touches on his Big Chance radio show. He scanned the newspaper and made careful check of the major league baseball game scores. Mustn't forget about the big baseball game next Sunday between the Lumberton A.C. and the Jennings Lumber Company nine at Phipps Field, he told himself.

Finally, the watch on his wrist told him it was just about time to go on the air. Time really flies when you are polishing a radio program. Armed with newspapers, clippings, booklets and magazines, and of course the very important commercial announcements, Charlie Trussell quietly entered the studio for the Big Broadcast. A red light flashed, and Charlie knew the time had arrived! Frank, the other announcer who was to introduce Charlie and "The Night Court of Fun" sided up to the mike and gave Charlie a reassuring wink and smile.

First came a fanfare of music—a march of some kind that you have often heard, and Frank made the introduction to the unseen radio audience of Charlie as "The Ol' Jedge", operator of "The Nite Court of Fun".

There was a pause as Charlie stepped forward to the mike to speak and then—IN WALKED MATILDA!

Before Charlie could acknowledge the introduction, the studio was filled with a squeaky "Meow!"

That "Meow" did the trick! It made the show. Charlie knew it as he spoke. From then on it was Charlie and MATILDA, The Cat.

The two formed an inseparable radio team that has continued to function ever since.

Charlie carried on a brief conversation that inaugural evening with Matilda during the show to the delight of the unseen audience. "Matilda," he said, "Will you please bring me the weather forecast for tonight?"

Matilda replied with a "Meow", which Charlie translated from the feline for the benefit of his listeners to mean "Yes, I'll get it for you in a jiffy!"

The next day, postal cards, letters and telephone calls arrived at WTSB for Charlie and Matilda. Naturally the program was a huge success. What the listeners did not know was that Charlie had been feeding Matilda every evening since his arrival in Lumberton, and in the excitement of this first night of the Big Chance, Charlie had completely forgotten the chore. Matilda had walked into the studio looking for Charlie and her dinner. Her complaint at the start of "The Nite Court of Fun" was that squeaky "meow."

Charlie and Matilda starred on "The Nite Court of Fun" for many months to become an outstanding favorite of the Carolina listeners. Naturally, they worked up great interest in the understanding of cats and kittens, in the area covered by the program.

A year ago, Charlie was offered a disc jockey position with Station WNOW, York, Pennsylvania. The prospect was indeed a flattering one. However no plans were made by the station officials for the inclusion of Matilda in the "act". Charlie insisted that his partner must share the program. The management agreed.

Since arriving in Pennsylvania, Matilda has been making just as many friends as Charlie. The listeners are deeply interested in Matilda. Occasionally she goes off on trips, and of course Charlie must inform his audience of her whereabouts on every broadcast.

The fan mail is always larger when Matilda is in town, Charlie says.

Sometimes Matilda is gone longer than is good for the program. To handle this emergency, he has a recording of Matilda's meows. These meows are necessary when Charlie and Matilda are plugging for the March of Dimes, along with pleas for sick children besides the daily birthday and the happy wedding anniversary greetings from time to time.

During the past year, Matilda twice disappeared for a week making imaginary trips to Atlantic City and Miami Beach. People wrote or called to find out when she would be back. Some of the children were worried, according to the mail received, and a lot of the older people, too.

Charlie's and Matilda's program at WNOW York, Pennsylvania is called "Top of the Morning." One of the features is a particular recording known as "Matilda's Choice of the Week." Listeners have called at record shops and have simply asked for "A copy of Matilda's Choice." Thus the sales people in the music stores are eager listeners to Charlie and Matilda.

Charlie and Matilda reply to all mail received with a signed picture. Readers of CATS may obtain one of these simply by writing to Matilda, The Studio Cat, Radio Station WNOW, York, Pennsylvania. An autographed picture of Charlie and Matilda, properly signed, will be sent in acknowledgement.

Charlie Trussell is an enterprising young man who has done much for the interest of The Cat as you can well understand. He was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., 33 years ago and of course was right in their pitching in uniform during the recent World War. He and his wife Norma (and Matilda) have a lovely daughter, Patty Ann, age 7.

RAINBOW ON MY SHOULDER—Charlie Trussell, who conducts the program, "Top of the Morning" over WNOW, York, Pennsylvania, and his assistant, Matilda, the kit with the Southern accent. Program is heard each morning from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. Charlie is a former G.I. from Pittsburgh, Pa. Matilda hails from North Carolina.

intense dislike for them, her owner thought it best that a change of homes be made. As a result Chinky received a new owner, this being Mrs. Louise M. Metcalf. With this transfer her name became DjerKits Chinkaling. While living there she was bred with Champion Pogo of Paris, and once again had a family of six.

In 1930, Chinky came to live at Newton. She was a Christmas present for Mr. Cobb, and she remained there until her death. She was the first Siamese of the very famous strain of Newton Siamese. During the next few years she was very busy with her families, and as a result only attended the nearby exhibitions, which were under CFF sanction. Thus she finished her CFF championship at the age of 5 years.

When Chinky was 7, the Sixth Siamese Specialty Show was staged by the Siamese Cat Society in New York. This was a 4 point event, which meant large competition. Chinky's son, Ch. E-Took-A-Shoo of Newton was the Best Cat; Chinky was Best Opposite and another son, Ch. Sy Mingo was third Best Cat. A real family affair! The victory gave her 4 CFA points, but it was another three years before she attended sufficient shows to obtain the other six points to give her a CFA championship at 10 years of age. Siamese breeder—exhibitors should appreciate this since most such cats have been retired long before they reach the age of 10.

Chinkaling, now Double Champion Chinkaling, compiled an envious show record, with wins made under nine judges. She was Best Cat twice in Siamese Specialty shows; Best Opposite three times in Siamese Specialty shows; Best Siamese in 10 All Breed shows each time being Best Short Hair; and was Best Champion in Show at Boston in 1939, under the late Mrs. Gertrude E. Taylor, an outstanding authority on Siamese. Chinky was 13 years of age at this Boston event.

At the age of 14, Miss Dorothy Hunt awarded Chinky a Special for being the "Cat in Best Condition," another remarkable feat.

Chinkaling was best known for her light body color, a very rich and luxurious light fawn with enough red in it to make it warm. Her full deep brown points made a contrast that was truly beautiful. Strangely enough her body color seemed to grow lighter with age; and it was always even. Today, her type would not be considered correct because she was inclined to be a bit too heavy. Her eyes were of medium blue and very good shape.

According to Mrs. Cobb, her owner, Chinky had great intelligence, a wonderful personality, and would "mother" anything.

During her life, Chinky had 94 kittens, the largest litter being nine. Many of her sons, daughters and grand children have made their Championship. To name a few, there are Ch. Newton's Salome; Ch. Newton's E-Took-A-Shoo; Ch. Newton's Sy Mingo; Ch. Newton's E-Vah-Loo (Sweetie); Ch. E-Ging Wah; Ch. Newton's Nat-china; Ch. Newton's Chinkaling Too; and Ch. Newton's Shela. Among the grand children are Ch. Sha La Shan; Ch. Newton's Amsi; Ch. Newton's Anina; Ch. Newton's Tau Ching Wah; Ch. Newton's Yan Tana; Ch. Chindwin's Lantana and Ch. Yana's V.K. Wellington-Pooh.

must show the name of Chinkaling in their pedigree since Ch. Sy Mingo sired over 800 kittens.

Many were the interesting events during the life of Chinky. The famous illustrated article titled, "The Panther of the Harth," published in the November 1938 issue of The National Geographic Magazine, shows Chinky with her son, Ch. Sy Mingo and a litter of kittens only 8 days old. The photo is in color.

When Chinky was 12 years of age and thereafter, she had her annual birthday party at Newton with her special guests. Presents arrived from all over the United States including corsages of catnip. Each year she received a box of dried shrimp from New Orleans, the gift of Miss Winnie Porter. Once Chinky was the recipient of a singing telegram at her birthday party. You can imagine the embarrassment of the messenger singing to a cat!

Thus it was, because of these unusual birthday parties, that the Boston newspapers devoted Page One space to the occasion, sending out their crack reporter to cover this feline affair.

At the August 4, 1942 birthday, the party was somewhat curtailed because of the war. One of the newspapers, covering the event nevertheless, headlined the story with "No Party for Chinky, It's the War—No Catnip, No Gas, No Rubber—No Fun."

When Chinkaling passed on, she did so in her sleep. As noted at the beginning of this article, her trophies and cups were presented to the Newton Junior Commandos, a group of children in the neighborhood who collected scrap metal for the war effort. The October 5 issue of Time Magazine made mention of her death.

The Boston Cat Club voted to hold a Siamese Specialty Show in January 1943, to be known as the "Champion DjerKits Chinkaling Memorial Show." Her many friends donated sufficient money to finance this exhibition completely. Mrs. Pauline Kelsey, who judged the first show that Chinky entered, gave her services as Judge.

Chinkaling is buried in the Cobb rose garden at Newton with a simply granite marker inscribed, "Chinky."

Mrs. Louise M. Metcalf wrote the following upon learning of the death of the beloved Chinky:

To Chinkaling

The quiet purr, the gentle pat
Are known no more at home.
Are you asleep, serene—a cat
In an eternal cat-acomb?
Ah no! you must, as was your way
Be watching, with maternal eye,
The little kitten-ghosts at play
In some celestial cattery.

(Louise M. Metcalf, Sept. 23, 1942)

Did any cat ever have a more interesting, colorful and eventful life?

Seven cats were among the survivors taken off the cargo vessel Alcyone Fortune that went aground recently off the coast of Scotland. The cats were pets and were tenderly carried down the ship's ladder into the lifeboat.

At the East 51st Street police station house recently, a cat scratched on the door to attract the attention of the officer on duty. Recognizing the condition of the cat, police brought her in and provided her with a bed in the locker room where she gave birth to three kittens.

CAT TAILS . .

by Billie Bancroft
Associate Editor

Down Texas way, Mrs. Joseph Marshall tells me she has a new member added to her feline fancy, namely a so-called "alley" cat, named Brenda who is quite young and has acquired by adoption four wee, small Siamese. Mrs. Marshall had a confidential talk with Brenda and informed her in very decided terms that the babies were hers because their real mother just could not take care of them—you know how it is—the price of milk keeps going up—what is a poor cat-mama to do! Brenda, in her most regal alley-cat manner replied, "well they don't look like cat-babies should look but I'll do the best I can with them maybe they will take the place of my own litter but I very much doubt it!" The little family was placed in a cage away from all the other cats—especially was it out of sight of the Siamese. The kittens grew and prospered, Brenda swished her tail and purred, her cuffs and kisses were impartially bestowed upon each of them. Then there came a day—that all young fry must face—Brenda's family was returned to its Siamese relatives—was there a happy re-union—there was not—this family of four looked the other Siamese over and spit, fizzed and swore, arched its back and strutted its stuff. No-sir-ee, it would have nothing to do with these foreigners—why they were funny looking. Through all of this Brenda was calm and serene as you please, maybe there were hidden twinkles in her eyes and a half hidden smirk back of her whiskers. She has a bit of royal Persian in her blood and her eyes are so green she gives you the impression of wearing glasses—this, with her flat, peke nose gives her a very attractive face. Thanks to this dear little alley-cat mother, Mrs. Marshall raised four very valuable Siamese.

Mrs. Sigvald Brooks, Lansdowne Avenue, Montreal, P. Q., writes me that she has a very remarkable male Persian named Markus. Markus travels with Mrs. Brooks where ever she goes and is always a very agreeable traveling companion and is a prime favorite with porters and hotel boys. She found one of the porters in London, taking him out of his Carrier and holding him in his arms—much to the admiration of the rest of the porters. This same boy refused a tip for carrying her luggage. "Just you bring the big fellow back again, ask for John, I'll be here."—adding as an after thought—"sure wish I could have one of his babies ma'am—but guess they'd be too high priced for a bloke to handle"—by this time quite a crowd had gathered as John stroked Markus with a loving touch. Markus purred and acted up in his usual manner when he is the center of attention. The cabbies and porters all had a goodbye word for him—one of them called after Mrs. Brooks, "don't bother 'bout John, ma'am—any of us can do better than him."

Mrs. David Bronson down at Via Del Lago, Palm Beach, Florida, tells me that The Colonel, her large Red Persian is attracting quite a lot of attention. In traveling she takes the Colonel, everywhere she goes. While on the west coast this last winter she had Colonel. The hotel was quite swanky. Now the big Persian has a rather odd trait, instead of purring when he is pleased—he snorkles, a snorkle sounds something like a snore—only more so and you have to love the Colonel a lot to put up with this funny noise. One day she noticed the Colonel snorkling at a great rate—he was following one of the bell-boys who was paging a guest. Mrs. Bronson put the big fellow down and he dashed over to the boy, following step by step, snorkling and swishing his tail at a great rate. A few hours later another guest was paged—and the Colonel threw the book at him so far as approval went—and did this please the boys! Now if Mrs. Bronson is not in the lobby often enough to suit the bell-boys, sooner or later one of them will call at her door and ask if they can borrow the cat. They have changed his name to Colonel Snorky. Each boy makes sure that the big fellow is somewhere near when he starts paging.

A breeder writes me from the Middle-West, asking that her name be omitted, also the name of her cat. It seems she bought a large male, as near perfect as to type, as she has ever seen. He was shipped by air express from the east—the price of this boy ran to three figures—and a good three figures at that. This fellow seems to like his new home—he has his own separate apartment. Three compartments away lives a very lovely Junior Miss—well it was love at first sight. This Persian male has been in his new home nine months and absolutely refuses to even look at another queen. The Junior Miss was removed from his sight—he yawled at such a rate it was unbearable for the family—a banshee would have been better. To hush him—the little queen was moved back into his sight—immediately he started purring. His queen had returned. Long Live the Queen.

Thank you for the letters, tails and good wishes. There are a few of you I have not heard from. Does your conscience bother you—! ! ! ! !

THE Breeders' Digest

BY THE OFFICE KITTEN

Mrs. Robert Zettle has recently purchased the colorbred Blue female Kittywish's Cheeta of Carriere, a daughter of Baba II of Bagdad ex Marie of Bagdad. Also a Black female, Larklan's May-Me of Carriere, a daughter of Ch. Larklans Black Muchacho ex Domino's Comfort of Larklands. Another new arrival is Hilodell Blue Jace of Maryland, a colorbred Blue female daughter of Glen Echo Emblem of Hilodell ex Hilodell Faith, and boasts the most exquisite dark copper eyes you ever saw. Mrs. Zettle plans to breed her with Wycliffe Blue Dream.

The neo-breeders, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis Thoms of New York City have purchased Saru Ken's Ying and Yin, two 7-month old females from Mrs. Franco Gallucci; also Newton's Scoody, a 7-month male from Mrs. Virginia Cobb. The Thoms flew over to Boston to pick up these Siamese kits. They aren't losing any time are they?

Miss Eva Volkert of Junius, S. Dak., is mourning the loss of her solid Red Persian, Northways Red Kiska, Jr., which died enroute home from the North Shore show at Chicago in October, where she had taken him. He was a fine show prospect. Tough luck for a first-time exhibitor.

Mrs. Louise Fiedler reports that Mo-Ling Wing Wu Tai finished his CFF championship at Boston and that Fury II also added "Ch." before his name. The title is a good one for Wing Wu Tai because he is six years old, and for older cats it is extremely difficult to annex a title.

Word is out that the New Orleans show is "off" this season. The show has been a fine one the last few years, and the results of it has determined many of the AA winners in the past.

Mrs. Lucille A Purnell of St. Cloud, Fla., had unusual fine success in Norfolk, Newark and Washington this year with Rosebank Ming-Wah, a lovely Siamese male. He clicked off his championship in the Washington exhibit.

Two other Florida exhibitors who enjoyed unusual fine success prior to the holidays are Mrs. Florence Kemmer and Mrs. Maud R. Barney. They'll probably be back again next year to add to their mounting laurels.

In his syndicated column December 26, 1948, Walter Winchell took recognition of the heading of this column, to wit, "The magazine called 'Cats' has a special section titled Breeders' Digest. Meowch!" Several months earlier Tide Magazine, the weekly publication that circulates throughout the advertising and marketing field, cited the subscription slogan, "We'll be having KITTENS until you enter your subscription to CATS MAGA-ZINE" Oh that boss of ours, what a punny man!

Thank me for that Gestation Chart that is appearing this month (I hope). I have been after Ye Ed to publish this because of the recent letters we have been receiving requesting it.

Last of the All American Rosettes and Sectional Ribbons were to be given out at Buffalo Cat Show. Looks like Mrs. Revington and Miss Hydon are running pretty close for owning the cat with the title of All American Cat of the Year. Miss Hydon has brought out her Blue male, Champion Lavender Liberty, while Mrs. Revington is countering with her Orange Eye White male, Champion White Historian II.

Here is another tip—the interest, I learn, in regard to the History of the American Cat Fancy is unusually great, and it may be well for you to keep the copies of CATS in a safe place to save the various installments of this important research. I did not realize there was so much I didn't know until I read a few things about the early days of the Siamese, which will complete the first section of this History. Credit for owning the first Siamese to win in an All Breed show was believed to be the Blue Point, Champion Siamese Star of Adamina, at Detroit in 1925, and owned by Mrs. H. E. Naatz of Cleveland. Who knows but maybe a Domestic Short Hair Cat once won Best in Show.

(Editor's Note—A Domestic Short Hair DID win Best in Show in a Championship Exhibition. We have the complete story and will tell it another time.)

Mrs. Mabel Steward of Toronto has recently imported Cobber Tommy Bah, a Siamese Seal from Mrs. Isabel Luther of London. He was sired by Doneraile Dekho out of Donneraile Dis Dain. Mrs. E. R. Spencer who sends us this information tells us that she has obtained a beautiful colorbred blue female, Rollingwood Winter Queen, whose sire is Corso's Commander of Rosecrest and her dam is Viola of Rollingwood. Like others of the Rollingwood stock, this acquisition has gorgeous deep copper eyes and excellent type. She further adds that Candy Cane is the prefix of Mrs. L. C. Greene's cattery. Mrs. Greene is going in for Reds in a big way, with the purchase of a fine young female, Spoon River Star Bright; also the Blue Cream Elderdown Feather Duster, owned by the late Mrs. Warfel-Smith. Both kits were purchased through advertising in CATS. Mrs. Spencer is very emphatic in stating.

Cat Week Aids Founding Club At Fort Wayne

First new club as a direct result of National Cat Week has been organized at Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Headed by Mrs. Walter Froebe an exhibition of 25 pedigree and ordinary household cats was staged for two days during the Week, attracting 8,000 spectators, many coming to view the Cats from 50 miles away. The exhibition was aided by extraordinary newspaper publicity and twice-daily broadcasts on each of the three Fort Wayne radio stations.

Mrs. Froebe arranged with her National Cat Week committee to obtain the names of the majority of spectators, and as a result cards were sent a few weeks later announcing the first meeting of the Fort Wayne Cat Club on December 12.

Officers elected are Walter Froebe, president; Mrs. Marrice Weimner, vice president; Mrs. Bernard Romy, secretary; and Mrs. H. O. Maxey, treasurer.

The foundation of the club is educational and therefore the organizers expect many more people to become interested in pedigree cats in the future. A complete program of events is now being scheduled with outstanding speakers listed for each meeting. High point of the schedule of course will be the second annual National Cat Week show to be held in November.

Subscribers wishing to join the first cat club to be organized as a result of National Cat Week should contact Mrs. Walter Froebe, 2621 East Pontiac Street, Fort Wayne, Ind.
